Cloud Migration Case Study

Sharada Industries Success Story with Vaultastic

About Sharada Industries

Sharada Industries (SI) started out in 1974 and worked as Weldo Works with a handful of people. The company today is comprised of plants with 11 manufacturing facilities in 3 locations (Jamshedpur, Pune and Lucknow). The company manufactures sheet metal components and assemblies, mainly supplying to large OEM's such as Tata Motors, Bharat Electronics, AMW and TI metal works. The company supplies over 700 part numbers and assemblies to these particular OEM's both within India and outside. The company was looking for a solution to reduce cost and complexity of data backup and to have data securely stored in a separate operational infrastructure, away from the local data center.

THE CHALLENGE

1. SI deployed an on premise NAS storage for email, but that grew rapidly to consume 10 TB within 3 years, which was a challenge to manage.
2. Since email was stored in a raw format, SI needed tech experts to search for and retrieve information. An overhead on the IT Team.
3. Frequent power cuts in the industrial area, put the company at risk of losing data that was stored on premise.

THE SOLUTION

Storing a copy of every email on Vaultastic, which is a separate operational infrastructure and offers unlimited elastic storage, has done away with the need to manage storage and worry about loss/corruption of data due to power cuts, fires, or virus attacks. All mail is always online. Using eDiscovery, any authorized user can simply access the panel to fire deep searches across mailboxes to locate any mail in seconds. The simple act of storing a searchable copy of every mail, has increased accountability across all the employees and improved work throughout significantly. The company was able to save close to USD 10K on storage.

THE BENEFITS

Increased productivity

All users can now safely access their own archived mails without needing to contact IT support, thus reducing delays in terms of project management.

Data safe for life

Sharada Industries no longer have a fear of losing any data or running out of space as all the data is safely and securely stored on cloud with no storage limit.

Increased IT capacity

Vaultastic provides a DIY portal, automatic upgrades, zero management, increasing the bandwidth of the IT team to focus on core initiatives.
